it up there. I mention this as it would be better to be on the ground floor where I could answer all questions & Communications & not to be at such long range. After it gets to going & people are using it, it will speak for itself I am not afraid of it. for there is nothing that will beat it. I received a letter from Julia the other day. A mixture of jealousy, kindly solicitation, deceit, anxiety to find out something, and insolence peculiar to her. I do not intend to answer it. She can not fool me. I would like to write Estelle but I know she would intercept my mail & it would never be given to her. If it came into the possession of that bawling termagant of a daughter, it would be the same. If I were as far away from her as a thought I would reach through Eternity. I would still want to get farther. I would very much like to get my money out of there somewhere. I do not want it where she has any influence at all. Can't you get hold of it Callie? I am thoroughly on to her dope & could give her the point of the whole life, but I believe Silence is the best, perhaps. Write me Callie and give my love to every one of the family
