

to justify the admittance of Texas into statehood, it has nursed its hatreds of the North for more than three quarters of a century and continues to vote the Democratic ticket, altho often entirely out of sympathy with the Democratic administration. Today under the power of Jesse Jones it is exerting a controlling interest in the affairs of the nation, and billions of money made by the residents of northern states is poured into the <sup>South</sup> state.

Following an unconditional surrender at Appomatox the South is now in charge of our nation and is exacting reparations greater than any nation victorious in war has <sup>ever</sup> exacted <sup>from</sup> of a vanquished foe.

Flip back another fifty years <sup>to 1791</sup> and the Constitution of the United States has just been adopted thru the ratification of the last two states North Carolina and Rhode Island. Vermont formed from disputed territory between New York and New Hampshire was admitted to the Union in 1791, Kentucky in 1792 and Tennessee in 1796.

France in the throes of a revolution was demanding aid from the States along certain lines, and England had not yet forgotten the loss of the Revolutionary her defeat under Washington. Alexander Hamilton was exerting his great mind and body to the utmost to <sup>strengthen</sup> establish the federal government and had arrayed against him the leaders of the Democratic party, always <sup>in guarding</sup> jealous of states rights until they sold out body and soul for the pottage offered by the present administration.

<sup>A third</sup> Another turn backwards of fifty years takes us to the <sup>period</sup> of the French and Indian War, which made possible the ~~extension of~~ development <sup>the</sup> of ~~central and western United States~~ of what is now the central and western part of the <sup>in</sup> United States. Still another <sup>of fifty years, to the closing years of the 17th century</sup> turn and we come to the Duke of Marlborough, one of the greatest soldiers England ever produced and ~~whose~~ upon whose descendant has rested the fate of Christendom for the past several years.
