

Here to talk plainly -

Had farmers pay for dinner - Why to make them welcome -

Been too much suspicion - Every time business men of town meet, you imagine they are putting up a job -

When the farmer organizes - annoys man in town, feels you are plotting against him -

Why shouldn't farmers say?
~~Why~~ Why can't the farmer spend that extra dollar just as advantageously as the middle man -

Many people used to think the school necessary, because they employed so many men and spent so much money in the town for rent, light, license etc. But it was found the money came out of the pockets of people who were not only deprived of the use of the money - but by the use of the intoxicating liquors were made quiescent thereby adding to expense of the town - and at same time lessening their productivity.

So with the middle man - unless he is a creative force - opening new markets - carrying to surplus that would spoil on farmer's hands -
