

Hon. S. Dutton-Pegram, #2

ing that he did not feel just right and although he was seemingly getting along in a satisfactory manner, he passed away very suddenly about three o'clock the next morning. So the thoughts of our visit to Mexico and our friends there will always be associated with this great grief.

I shall always be glad to hear from you and am quite sure that I would enjoy reading your poetry. Here's hoping that the cotton market has broken right with you and that you now have your grappling hooks firmly imbedded in another good sized fortune.

Sincerely yours,

WCS-HM
