Friend Dolph:

We have just read of your bereavement. Mrs. Leatherman and myself wish to express to you and your sisters our heartfelt sympathy in the death of your father.

I feel his life was one of kindness, usefulness and benefactions. I consider him one of my benefactors during my early association with him.

He will be remembered by all with whom he came in contact socially and in a business way.

With best wishes and hopes for your continued success, I am

Yours truly,

W. J. Leatherman
