

Dear friend Dolph:

A massive eruption of thoughts and memories encircled my mind when I read of the death of your father. It will be hard for me to realize that he is gone and the gap he left in the community can never be filled.

As I recall the days when he came here from Salina where I had taught in the high school I hold in hallowed memory the fellowship that emerged in our occasional conversations which revealed a philosophy of life and a personality that demanded respect and reverence. You and the rest of the family may well feel consoled by the heritage which this useful and Christian man has left in words and deeds that make him immortal.
May grace and comfort arrange your grief is the prayer of your friend and fellow mourner
