

however am to see Connor this Evening and if any thing material should occur shall leave a line so that you may have it very early in the morning I find he and all his party are very alert at present and are so far from being apprehensive from the present Temper of the House of Commons that they on all occasions treat the late Committee with the utmost Insolence & Contempt However as there is little likelihood that his Appearances will be able to defeat the united Endeavours of those Gentlemen for the Relief of the unhappy I please my Self with hoping that all will at last go right

Feb: 2. 1729
/30.

I am Y^rs

Campbell

To M^r Harbin

Sir

M^r Harbin having informed me that you have been so good as to enquire after me, I thought it necessary for me to excuse my self for not attending you by acquainting you with the Reason; which is, that my being seen at the House Guards as things stand at present, might be some hindrance to my entering into the knowledge of some things about which it is at present my Duty to enquire.

There is another Motive which induc'd me to give you this Trouble and that is that you would be so good as to mention it to the Chairman that as my Time (the only thing valuable that is left me in my Misfortunes) is almost wholly taken up in endeavouring to do Service