

to the present Inquiry and as it has involved me in the Hatred of a party of the worst of Men who let slip no Opportunity of making me uneasy I hope it may not be thought unreasonable to give some Directions for my receiving a moderate Assistance.
 I confess Mr. Harbin has been in this respect very kind but as I have been hitherto unused to ask any body for every Shilling & Six pence that is necessary to be laid out I conceive it would be for both our Advantages to have it putt into another Channel.
 Before my engaging in this Affair I confess I used sometimes ^{to} prepare some little Labours for the press but as these are the Employments of a Mind at Ease in my present Circumstances it is no way in my power to compose them.

As this is a Subject on which I should never have prevailed on my self to speak and on which I write with the greatest Reluctancy I hope you will forgive this Trouble from

Your Oblige

& Obedient Servant

John Campbell
