

己未十月廿二

A simple line drawing of a broom. It has a long, straight handle with diagonal hatching. The head is rounded and filled with dark, vertical lines, suggesting bristles. A small dark circle is visible in the center of the head. The broom stands on a patch of ground represented by small dark dots. There is a light-colored, irregular shape to the left of the broom's head, possibly representing a shadow or a piece of debris.
