

For A Sanker in the mouth

Take 6 sponfulls of honey clarefied with as much water over the fire till the water be consumed all ways stirring it and when it is clarefied put thereto of the best whit vinegar and a peece of roch allom as bige as a haisell nutt and a sponfull of bay salt let all thes seeth together the space of a quarter of an houre and take dry rose leaues wood bine leaues and saige of each halfe a handfull and let them all seeth together a quarter of an houre upon a chafing dish and let the pacient wash the sore and lay the leaues upon the sore and if the lickor be to thicke take faire kuning water and whit vinegar and a sponfull of honey to be so den together with the hearbs a fore said

A Cordiall to put from the hart

Give 2 sponfulls of Cardus water and put to it halfe a sponfull of the Juice of lemons and as much as a peece of metredat and as much allcermes and as much harts horne as will lye one a 2 pence so much allcermes and metridat in conserve of clove gilliflowers is very good boyle harts horne in their broth

Remedys for the head ache and megrome

Take of bitany Camamile warren leaues picked of each a handfull stampe them and seeth them in beare or ale or for lack of beere worth in the later end of the sething put to it a lited comen brused