perceyue which is of chyne and which is of be hed. For bi his lesses pat is to say pat gop from hym bi hynde ne bi oper jugement a man may not him behind, nor by other judgment a man cannot knowe a grete boor, but a man see hym, saue pat know a great boar unless he sees him, save that he makeb greet lesses and bat is tokyn bat he hab he maketh great lesses, and that is a token that a greet bowel and pat he be a grete boor, and bi he hath a great bowel, and that he be a great boar, the tusshes also whan he is dede for whan be and also by the tusks when he is dead, for when tusshes of a boor ben as of an half cubite or more the tusks of a boar are great as of half a cubit or and [byn] grete and large of ii fyngres or more, more and are both great and large of two fingers and pere byn smale goters along bob aboue and or more and there be small gutters along both bynethe. Thise byn tokenys pt he is a greet boor above and beneath, these be the tokens that he is and an hold, and of a lasse boor be jugement is a great boar and old, and of a smaller boar the lasse, and also whan his tuskes byn lowe and i- judgment is less. And also when the tusks be weryd of be neybyr tuskes it is a tokyn of a greet low and worn by the nether tusks it is a token of boor.

which is of the chine and which is of the head. For by his lesses, that is to say what goes from a great boar.

> HOW THE HOUNDS WERE LED TO UNHARBOUR THE HART