*also ye maystre of ye game should be enfourmed by ye forster or parker what game ye kyng shuldly with owte ye sette,[1] and whan alle ye is ido ye same shuld ye maister of ye game assigne hem and mete wiþ ye kyng, and ryde wiþ him to his stondyng, and telle him what game is wiþ owte ye sett and how ye greihoundes be set, and eke ye stable and alle is wel, wheder he be bettir to stond wiþ his or wiþ ye greihoundes for to se the beste of the chamber and of ye game, and ther twey fermeres, bigge of grene bowes and ye queen and eke ye gentilwomen, and eke ye evil wedir. And whan ye kyng is at his stondyng or at his fermeres, and þat he have sette ye queen and alle ye game, and þat he have sette his houndes, and þat he have sette