

keepe them with dragon water and parme sete after the pox are fully come out and ripe and begin to be hard then use this broth folowing to keepe them from set scaring take a quarter of a pint of french burby be aten 3 or 4 handfulls of chised and 3 or 4 handfulls of mallows boyle thes in a gallon of water that is faise to a potted and bath the face with it morning and evening raise the scabs a litle with your naile iles whear they stick hardest that the lickos may goe under them then a noynt the face 3 or 4 times a day with oyle of sweet allmonds and parme ce te mingled together you must make the bath new every 2 or 3 dayes

A purge

Take a pint of posat alle wade with whit wine it put in to it halfe an ounce of seney halfe an ounce of anyseeds brused 2 or 3 good sticks of lickrish sliced a fenell root and a persly root brused in use all thes in the posat alle all night in the morni ng straine it and put to it an ounce of manna 2 or 3 sponesfulls of surope of roses then straine it a gaine then put to the waith of 8 or 10 of kubersb shred thinn being first infused in the posat drink and aft er strained in to the rest and drinke this a litle wo me and eat broth 2 hours after it

To Comfort the lungs

Drink the water of one lady thisell 2 dayes