yorr trib ush Arremberge, nor of the Surprising Trooper/

Lo: Chiefe Justice/ Sir my Councell are, I am perswaded that Cobham hath abused you highly, you cannot deny but you were dealt with to have a Pention of 1500li a yeare to be a Spie for Spaine/

Raw: I submitt my Selfe to the Kinge Matie, I know his Matie is greater than my offence, and remember my wife & Childe & tender yeares, & bring it all to his Compassion/

Here the Lo: Chiefe Justice gave him Judgment/

Lo: Chiefe Justice/ I had thought I should not have seene this day Sr Walter to have stood in this place to give Sentence of death against you, because I thought it impossible, that one of so great parts should have fallen soe grievously/ God hath bestowed on you many benefitts, you had beene a man fitt and able to have served your Prince in good place, you had brought your Selfe to a good Estate of living if you had entred into a good Consideracion of it and not have suffered your owne will to have to have intrapped yo Selfe, you might have lived in Securitie but it is best for a man not to clyme too high least hee fall, nor yet to creepe too lowe, least hee bee trodden upon/ If were the Practise of the greatest and wisest Counsellors of Princes in England In medio Spatio mediocria firma locantur, you might have lived well with 3000li a yeare, for soe much I have heard your Servants to bee) I know nothing that might move you to bee discontented, but if you had beene drawne, Fortune's wheele when it is turned about ryseth againe, I now heard the Kinge Booke came thinge from you but the Mayestie of the Guard which hee did with good reason to have one of his owne Kinsfolke to whome hee might trust in that place you have beene taken for a wise man and Lawe showed wisdome enough this day/ Again: for Monopolies for which if the King hath sold it is a thinge that offendeth my people/ I could I burthen them to your particular head/ I thinke you could not well take it Lardly that his Subiects were cosned through by your corrupte Counsaile/ Two kinds Lawe thirdly lodged in you