

ODE TO WATSON LIBRARY CONSTRUCTION

OR

MY FAIR LATHE (is missing)

I. There once was a lady named Carrie
After whom there was named a library.
Now jackhammer jocks
From the roof hurl down rocks
At the patrons, and scream "sanctuary!"

II. I'm just the student help
My life is very droll.
I sit there on the index file,
And watch them dig a hole.
They're picking up big rocks!
Of this I have approved,
Until the state inspector asked,
"Has this east wall here moved?"

refrain

Oh, hurray for noise
And dust and grit.
Dee Deedle dee deedle dee dee
And if I can live
Through all this s...
Huray for little me.
