

...the ... of ...

[illegible]

A rare gold coin found under Charlemagne's bed.
The coin was found in 1986 during excavations on the grounds of the royal palace at Aachen.

A dark, oval-shaped metal object, possibly a seal or a small mirror, resting on a light-colored, textured surface. The object has a raised, circular center and a slightly irregular, dark border. The background is a light, mottled grey or white surface.

"Chlorophyll" is a longish story that tells of the many opportunities and challenges encountered by a 1970s-era "Chlorophyll" scientist (played by the author) who is sent to the South Pacific to study the effects of a chemical on the growth of the coral. The story is told in a series of chapters, each with a title that is a play on words. The story is told in a series of chapters, each with a title that is a play on words. The story is told in a series of chapters, each with a title that is a play on words.