

Gojira, Born Out of Radioactive Ash (1954-1963)

Gojira, the giant monster, is the most famous of the kaiju (monster) genre. It was created by Shûhei Matsuda and directed by Ishirô Honda. The film was a huge success, spawning a franchise that includes several sequels and a TV series. Gojira is a creature that is born from the radioactive ash of a nuclear reactor. It is a giant monster that is 200 feet tall and weighs 20,000 tons. It is a creature that is born from the radioactive ash of a nuclear reactor. It is a giant monster that is 200 feet tall and weighs 20,000 tons. It is a creature that is born from the radioactive ash of a nuclear reactor. It is a giant monster that is 200 feet tall and weighs 20,000 tons.

